Keeping Your Child Active During Winter

At this time of year, when the days are short, cold and wet, it can seem as if there are fewer opportunities to get children out and about and moving. But even in winter, it's important that under-fives still maintain the recommended three hours of physical activity a day - that's around a quarter of the time a child is awake! If you struggle with this like many parents do, take a look at the Preschool Learning Alliances Infant and Toddler Forum at www.infantandtoddlerforum.org and read all about their tips and ideas on keeping kids active over winter.

Healthy Snack Donations Always Welcome

Please remember:

- To provide labeled wellies and suitable clothing for your child.
- To provide a healthy lunchbox if applicable.
- To call or text if your child will be absent from preschool.
- To collect promptly at the end of your child's session.

Thank you
